

Farmers' Market Advisory Group Application 2016

The Farmers' Market Advisory Group (FMAG) will work mostly independently on project-based work with support from the Market Manager as needed. The FMAG will play an important role in fundraising to enhance special market activities that will add value to the market.

What you bring: You have experience or an interest in Farmers' Markets and how they can contribute to the health of the food system and surrounding community. You enjoy working as a team to collectively make decisions as well as project based work that can be done either individually or as part of a team. You have experience or an interest in fundraising and designing and facilitating special events and activities. Finally, your values align with those of the Hillhurst Sunnyside Farmers' Market and you have great ideas about how to make it a more impactful hub for the community.

What is expected of members: Members are expected to attend 1-2 hour meetings held every 2 weeks/once a month and to respond to regular email correspondence. Meeting dates and times will be determined based on the availability of group members.

Work required between meetings, such as research or event planning, will be done at a convenient time for members of the group, and can be expected to consume approximately 4-6 hours/month. Each Advisory Group member will be expected to volunteer at a minimum of one market over the course of each the indoor and outdoor seasons.

Perks: The Hillhurst Sunnyside Farmers' Market is well regarded in the community and the city at large; a spot on the FMAG will give you the chance to be involved, first-hand, in ensuring that this market is always improving and striving to meet its full potential as a food and community hub.
